EPA approves DeerPro™ Winter Animal Repellent

(Redding, CT) Redding Nursery announces EPA approval of their popular winter Deer Repellent DeerPro™. DeerPro Winter Animal Repellent is now available to sale to commercial applicators in 17 northern states.

For 25 years, Redding Nursery has built a reputation as the leading deer repellent service. Redding Nursery is the largest provider of winter deer repellent in the country. Their long lasting spray formulation has been protecting millions of dollars in landscaping from winter deer browse damage. One spray application of DeerPro in the fall protects woody ornamental evergreens from deer all winter long.

For years, Redding Nursery has had requests from across the country for their famous spray. Due to EPA regulations, they were restricted from selling their spray and could only provide DeerPro to customers they could physically service in Fairfield County, CT and Westchester County, NY. Now with EPA approval, commercial applicators will be able to purchase and apply DeerPro to their customers.

DeerPro Winter Animal Repellent will be sold as a concentrate. Commercial applicators will add two parts water to one part concentrate to make the finished spray. DeerPro is sold in 5 gallon containers of concentrate.
